Dear JMA Members.

Alert of malicious email with forged JMA contents

Recently, we have received a notification from a member company, regarding to the malicious email with forged JMA logo and content, the email content is related to jewelry industry.

We would like to hereby provide some hints for distinguishing the email from JMA and the malicious forged email for our members' attention. Below please find a sample of the malicious email:

- 1. Please check the sender name and see if it is suspicious. For example: We usually will use "HKJMA" or JMA staff name instead of "Hong Kong Jewelry Manufacturers Association" as the sender name to send out emails.
- 2. We will state the purpose of the email clearly, but not fuzzy email content to ask members to open urgent and important file.
- 3. We usually will not send out email on behalf of our executive committee members but rather by JMA, Departments of JMA, or JMA staff instead.
- 4. When we send out the emails, we will not add the sender's photo or signature to the emails.

Please be alert that such malicious email might cause damages or harmful effects to your computer system. We suggest that anti-virus software should be installed to protect your computer system. Kindly report to us by calling (852) 2766 3002 if you find any suspicious email. If the email is verified not sent by JMA staff, please delete it immediately to prevent any damage to your system. Thank you for your attention.

Best regards,

Hong Kong Jewelry Manufacturers' Association
